Blending elements that look fabulous and function perfectly for a client's lifestyle is the most exciting part of design for Sara. "At times, I've spent hours cooking with my mother and grandmother. I love having a current, up-to-date space to work in. I also appreciate how important it is that the space is comfortable and efficient so we enjoy spending this special time together."

Whether traditional, contemporary, rustic or transitional, Sara is confident designing across the design continuum. "There are aspects to every style that inspire me on a creative level. I love working with my clients to discover what will appeal to them."

Sara combines her technical and design talent with a very relatable style. Her strength as a designer comes from her ability to listen and really learn about client's lives and families. "Design is about making a house a home. It goes beyond the physical appearance and structure. It is about what happens in the space. It is about the people, the good times and the memories that are made."
